

Abstract

The active-matrix display contains a chiral smectic liquid-crystal mixture comprising at least one compound of the formula (I) where the symbols are as defined in the description.